Thoughts for the Day

Adopted from Loren Eiseley's essay,

“The Star Thrower”

A story is told of the man who learned the meaning of ONE.

“Whilst wandering a deserted beach one morning, I saw a man moving like a dancer. As I got closer I saw that the man was not dancing, but instead he was reaching down to the shore, picking up something and very gently throwing it into the ocean.

As I got closer I called out, “Good morning! What are you doing?” The young man paused, looked up and replied, “Throwing starfish into the ocean.”

I guess I should have asked, “Why are you throwing starfish into the ocean?”

The young man replied: “The sun is up and the tide is going out. And if I don't throw them in they'll die.

I replied: “But young man, don't you realize that there are miles and miles of beach and starfish all along it. You can't possibly make a difference!”

The young man listened politely. Then bent down, picked up another starfish and threw it into the sea, past the breaking waves. “It made a difference for that one!”

The moral of the story is this: Never underestimate the difference you can make, even if it is just for one person.

Jesus said: “This is my commandment that you love one another as I have loved you”.

John 15:12
