A Little Lamb

Twenty seven times the word arnion is used by John in Revelation. In each case this word is translated lamb. It means literally: ‘a little lamb that is less than a year old’.

In each case this “Little Lamb” is always used as a symbol to represent Jesus.

When I first looked at this Greek word I noticed that it is always used in the neuter gender. That means this “little lamb” is neither male or female. But common sense tells us it has to be either one or the other. Any one knows that a “little lamb” will either grow into a fully mature ewe or ram.

So what is it that John wants us to learn from this?

There are two points.

Firstly: Both male and female become one in Christ, we become neutral. Jesus died for both men and women alike, equally. Each one of us has an equal chance of coming to Jesus and gaining His victory, at the throne of Grace. There should be no gender preferences. Everyone, has a right to minister in the Gospel Ministry, from the lowest to the highest level in the church.

Secondly: John points to Jesus as this little lamb. The lamb that looks as if it had been slain. Revelation 5:6. It is through the blood of this helpless “little lamb” that we will overcome and defeat that huge red dragon described in Revelation 12:11.

A little lamb may not look much, but faith in Jesus has the power to move mountains. (Matthew 17:20)

Don’t make decisions about Jesus based on what you observe in others, but rather from your own personal experience of Him in your life.

Thought For the Day

“Christ (the little lamb) can triumph in a weaker man than I am, if there be any such”

Samuel Rutherford

“Our life has no meaning in itself; it has meaning only in relation to God”

Christoph Blumhardt
